Once upon a time, there were three little pigs. Their mother decided it was time for them to move out of home and live on their own.

The three little pigs picked a spot by the edge of the forest and each began to build their new house.

The first little pig was the oldest and laziest. He chose to build his house from straw. The second little pig was also lazy. He decided that straw was not warm enough and built his house from sticks. After finishing their houses, the two little pigs spent the rest of the day dancing and playing.

Meanwhile the third little pig spent all day working hard and built his house from bricks.

The big bad wolf saw the first two little pigs dancing and playing. He thought, “What a delicious dinner they would make.”

The wolf chased the first little pig to his house of straw. He huffed and he puffed and he blew the straw house down. The little pig escaped and ran to the second little pig’s house of sticks.

The big bad wolf came up to the house of sticks, he huffed and he puffed and blew the stick house down.

Terrified, the two little pigs ran to the third pig’s house which was made out of brick.

The big bad wolf huffed and he puffed but he could not blow it down. He tried for hours but the house was too strong. The wolf soon gave up and went to find dinner somewhere else.

The first two little pigs realised they shouldn’t have been so lazy and they too built their houses with bricks and lived happily ever after.
